

SEES ALL EUROPE MAKE OVERTURES TO PAY WAR DEBT

Head Of International Red Cross Predicts Move
Within Five Years.

NEW GERMAN OFFER TO BE CONSIDERED

France's Greatest Problem
Is To Rebuild Regions Says Belgian.

Washington, May 22.—All Europe will make overtures within five years for repayment of American war loans, Dr. Reno Sand, of Belgium, secretary general of the International Red Cross, predicted here today.

As a result of improved financial conditions by 1928, Dr. Sand declared, France and Belgium will follow the lead of Great Britain in negotiating for repayment of their shares of the $11,000,000,000 allied war debt. Other European nations will then swing into line.

Early settlement of the German reparations' problem, he added, will hasten the repayment by aiding in the restoration of sound economic conditions throughout Europe. He declared the reparations would be settled eventually by an international commission, on which the United States will have membership because of her war loans.

"There has been a recovery of European economies in the last year," Dr. Sand said. "A year ago the people were desperate; now they have gained confidence. No country save England can repay her debt to America for some time but within five years, France and Belgium will lead the way in entering refunding agreements. Actual payments may be delayed but a start will have been made."

France's greatest economic problem at the present is to raise $3,000,000,000 to rebuild devastated areas, Dr. Sand said, while Belgium must raise $500,000,000 for the same purpose by loss of foreign trade due to their own high exchange rates. With the German reparations settled, these difficulties will be removed.

"The next reparations' offer from Germany will be considered seriously by the allies," Dr. Sand continued. England and Belgium have signified their attitude and if France refuses to consider it, she will be isolated. And an isolated nation cannot long exist.

"Ultimately an international commission will be created to determine how much and when Germany can pay her reparations. I believe the United States will be represented on this commission. The allies want her to participate and if she does, Germany would be more willing to accept the commission's verdict. It would be a good thing for the whole world if the United States aided in settling this controversy."

Although most European nations have empty war chests, Dr. Sand declared peace was "far from sight."

Assembly Condemns Prohibition Repeal

Indianapolis, May 22.—The action of the New York legislature in repealing state prohibition enforcement legislation was deplored in a resolution presented in the 135th general assembly of the Presbyterian church here today. President Harding was commended for his stand for enforcement. The resolution asks that no rum vessels be protected by the United States flag within the three-mile limit.

Buy Smaller Autos For Two Officials

Sheriff Homer Lewis and County Surveyor Kier each received a new coupe purchased by the county commissioners. Both the sheriff and the engineer had to use a large car for their trips and the big machine was expensive to operate with only one passenger and the commissioners decided to buy smaller machines and save the upkeep in tires and gas necessary to operate the larger machines.

BALDWIN CHOSEN BRITISH PREMIER; HARDING PLEASED

President Says Selection Can Be Greeted With Enthusiasm.

London, May 22.—Chancellor of the Exchequer Stanley Baldwin was designated this afternoon by King George as premier of England in succession to Andrew Bonar Law, who resigned because of ill-health.

Chancellor Baldwin was acting premier during the recent absence of Bonar Law on the continent. The government continues to be Tory in politics.

Appointment of Chancellor Baldwin was made practically certain this afternoon when he was summoned to Buckingham palace for a long conference with King George. He left the palace at ten minutes after four. Although in a jubilant and jovial frame of mind, the chancellor had nothing to say to the press.

Washington, May 22.—The appointment of Stanley Baldwin as premier of Great Britain was hailed with undisguised satisfaction in official circles in Washington today.

President Harding told callers at the White House that Baldwin's appointment could be greeted with genuine and cordial enthusiasm and recalled the favorable impression which the chancellor made in Washington, during his conduct of the British debt negotiation.

Tear Bottle Used 3000 Years Ago Is Among His Relics

A tear bottle in ancient times was a little thing, but it had a big meaning behind it.

Very few people have ever beheld a tear bottle. It is a scarce article, in fact the item is not included in the factory list of any glass plant in America.

Over 3,000 years ago a tear bottle was buried with the body of an Egyptian near Alexandria. But by accident this bottle came to light, but in more recent years.

When Wm. McKinley was elected to the presidency, Ross Davis, a native of New Somerset, Jefferson county, was named United States counsel to that distant country. He is now connected with a bank at Covington, Ky.

John A. Armstrong, of Wellsboro, a retired minister of the Christian church, is also a native of New Somerset, and he and Mr. Davis are fast friends.

While Mr. Davis was at his post of duty he did not forget his old friend, and letters passed between the two at intervals.

Came one day to Mr. Armstrong a little package from across the seas. It was from his old friend Davis.

"Was a tear bottle, so an accompanying letter explained.

Some workmen were engaged in excavating, not in particular quest for relics, however, and then was exposed the little piece of glass. A little while later other ancient relics were exposed. The tomb was giving up its secrets.

But the little tear bottle fell into the hands of Mr. Davis and he sent it to his friend, Mr. Armstrong.

In those ancient times, as it has been explained, tears brought because of the death of a loved one were caught in a little bottle. It was the custom to catch the tear drops in the bottle and then bury the sealed bottle containing the tears with the dead.

FAMOUS FOSDICK CASE MAY ENLIVEN CHURCH ASSEMBLY

Bryan Is Expected To Give Presbyterians Views On Pulpit Topics.

Indianapolis, Ind., May 22.—The possibility of the famous Fosdick case coming up for discussion before the meeting of the general assembly of the Presbyterian church of America, enlivened the deliberations here today.

Successful on only one issue, that of having a "teetotaler" pledge endorsed and defeated in his ambition with regard to other matters, Wm. Jennings Bryan was expected to give the Presbyterians his views on what should be preached in the pulpits.

Others however, among the Presbyterian commissioners, entertained strong views on the subject, among them the moderator, Dr. Charles F. Wishart, who, although not definitely aligned with the liberals, has been lined up against Mr. Bryan on most of the matters which he has brought to the forefront of the assembly.

So far as the subject of teaching Darwinian theories in Presbyterian schools goes, Bryan will have much support in the assembly if he succeeds in projecting the issue. He stands for the apostles' creed, all of it, and without reservations has reached a sympathetic chord with other commissioners.

Much attention to the problems of the colored race in education and religion has been given by the general assembly although attempts by the negro commissioners to have better representation on the church bodies was defeated by a vote of the commissioners.

Rev. J. E. Jackson, principal of the Andrew Robertson institution, Aiken, S. C., was one of the principal spokesmen for the colored representatives.

"In God's own time and in his own way," he said, "through the instrumentality of his own people and own race, the colored race will get all that's coming to it."

FEAR WOMAN MAY ATTEMPT SUICIDE

Double Guards Placed To Keep Watch On Clara
Phillips.

Tegucigalpa, Honduras, May 22.—Under-Sheriff Eugene Biscailuz of Los Angeles county, California, who came here to take back the woman suspected of being Clara Phillips, the notorious hammer murderer, has asked the county authorities to put double guards around the prisoner, as he believes she has an accomplice here who is waiting an opportunity to help her escape.

Biscailuz and Deputy Sheriff Hunter went immediately to the American legation after their arrival and interviewed the suspected Clara Phillips in her cell over police headquarters. Although "Mrs. Jesse Carson," the woman believed to be Clara Phillips, was calm and collected during the interview, the California authorities feared she would commit suicide rather than go back to jail and asked that she be watched very carefully.

"Mrs. Carson" refused to admit she is Clara Phillips, but the California officials who knew her in Los Angeles are certain that she is the woman who escaped jail after being sentenced to prison for the murder of Alberta Meadows.

Commissioners Deny Petition For Road

Lisbon, May 22.—After a hearing before the commissioners yesterday afternoon in which considerable excitement was afforded by charges and counter charges, a petition asking for the location of a public road leading north from the Lincoln highway to the John Sullivan farm west of Lisbon was denied by the county commissioners.

After testimony had been taken from the county engineer who had surveyed the route of the proposed improvement the property owners were put on the stand. The hearing from this time on became hectic in spots and some ill feeling was developed. President Kerr of the board of commissioners had a hard time keeping the warring clans silent enough so the testimony of the witnesses could be heard.

The blossoms are of a rich wax like quality and are of a dark lavender shade, with olive green foliage.

Finds Conditions At Girls' Industrial School Improved

Salem Boy Inspects State Institutions, Praises
Masonic Home.

Conditions at the Girls' Industrial school at Delaware are in an infinitely superior condition to those existing before the reorganization of the school by Supt. Stannard and Recreational Director Hunsicker, according to a report of William Blackburn, son of Dr. and Mrs. W. J. Blackburn of Newgarden rd., who is an instructor in the college of commerce and journalism at Ohio State university.

Mr. Blackburn has recently finished a tour of inspection of children's schools throughout the state as a part of his work at the university. He will receive his master's degree this season.

In letters received by his parents recently he tells of his trips through the various schools of the state in which he gives a graphic account of conditions existing at the schools.

In speaking of conditions at the state industrial school for girls, Mr. Blackburn said:

"Supt. Stannard and Recreational Director Hunsicker have reorganized this school until it is infinitely superior to what it used to be. We must boost for them all we can as malign and selfish political influences are doing their best to undermine their splendid work. The girls now are being genuinely reformed."

"I was astonished to see what a fine bunch of girls they were. One would never dream that they were viewing penal institution girls, but would think this some big private boarding school for wealthy girls. Of course I did see in some of the non-honor cottages, types of what used to be characteristic of the entire school before Mrs. Stannard and Mrs. Hunsicker took it over a year ago."

The military conditions existing at the Ohio Sailors and Soldiers Orphan home at Xenia are not desirable for children of ages 13 to 15 in this institution, in the belief of Mr. Blackburn who declared that the school is a very progressive children's institution.

"However, so much of the military atmosphere is not desirable unless it disgusts them with the whole business. Imagine a six-year-old boy with army rifles (wooden for them, but real for older boys) out drilling like regular army recruits, but wearing a uniform constantly is not desirable, but all this is to be expected here, I suppose."

"However the youngsters seemed to be as happy and overflowing with spirit as I usually find in institutions. In fact I think they have more freedom for play and much better over- (Continued on fifth page.)"

TEAR GAS USED TO CAPTURE PRISONER

Admits Shooting After
Cross Examination
By Police.

Jersey City, N. J., May 22.—Two policemen were shot and killed and two wounded early today at 19 Manhattan ave., where they had gone to arrest Frank J. Saye, alias Frank Miller, wanted in connection with a hold up.

The dead: John Black, a detective sergeant, Clarence Ware, patrolman. The wounded: James Walton, Esh, wound in the head; Lieut. Harry Otis of West New York, N. J., shot through back, bullet entering stomach.

Saye, alleged slayer of the policemen, was captured. He was subdued after a fight with other policemen and severely beaten.

A woman, who claimed to be Saye's wife, also was arrested.

After the shooting Saye took refuge in the attic of a two-story frame structure.

He was brought out by the use of tear gas bombs.

In spite of the exchange of shots, Sayes was not wounded. In subduing him, however, police beat him badly.

The woman refused to give any information concerning herself or Sayes. Police said they recognize her as May Miller, a frequenter of dance halls.

Police say that Walton was shot by Sayes. They believe, they said, that Sayes fired the other shots but they are not certain.

Find Three Shot.

Otis came from West New York early today with a warrant for Sayes arrest and police had information that Sayes was in the house. Six of them surrounded the building. Before they had a chance to call on him to surrender, Sayes went to a rear window, police say, and fired one shot that struck Walton in the head.

Black, Otis and Ware entered the front door and went up to the second floor, where Sayes' rooms were. Suddenly policemen outside heard the rattle of shots. They rushed into the place, and at the head of the stairs found all three officers shot. Black and Ware were dead.

A call for ambulances and reserves was sent out. All four victims were taken to the City hospital.

When the reserves reached the scene, the house was again surrounded. Police lines were formed to keep back crowds which gathered. Policemen, with drawn revolvers, entered the building and cautiously worked their way into room after room. They found all of them empty.

Finally, Deputy Chief Thomas Wolfe noticed a small trap door in the ceiling at one end of a little hallway. He directed his men to stay away from it, then sent to police headquarters for tear gas bombs. When they arrived, he began to hurl them at the trap door.

Police retired into the next room and closed the door. After a moment, they opened it cautiously.

Wolfe saw the foot of a man protruding from the opening. He seized it and pulled down Sayes, who had been partially overcome by the fumes of the bombs.

Motion Picture Education
MR. EDISON has expressed the belief that in twenty years children will be taught through motion pictures and not through books. In making that prediction he added that he regards motion pictures as a perfect medium for teaching, with particular value in the case of persons under 20 years of age.

It is difficult to share Mr. Edison's confidence completely. There is no question that the motion picture will eventually come into much greater use as an educational tool. It should be used more widely and with more varied application than at present.
Mr. Edison is quite right when he calls the motion picture a perfect medium for teaching, but that assertion needs to be modified to the extent of saying that the motion picture is a perfect medium for the teaching of certain things.

Nothing else will make so clear to children, or adults, for that matter, the character of mechanical or industrial processes when actual demonstration is not possible. This use of the motion picture has already been grasped by large corporations in industrial classes for their employees.
Likewise, pictures will be of great usefulness in teaching natural history and geography, as some schools already are proving.

Motion pictures too give one travel at home; that is to say, one may travel through Europe and all other parts of the world without ever getting further away from home than a Broadway screen.

But these and other possible uses of the motion picture in education must be in the nature of things be largely supplemental. They will make some things clearer than words can make them, no matter how skillfully words may be employed. They cannot however, be of much assistance to the brain in grasping principles, in learning to draw conclusions from a set of facts, in learning to use the brain as a muscle, and not as a dry plate.

That is where the difficulty is in placing our whole educational faith in motion pictures. The impressions pictures leave may often be fleeting, because the effort at attention which they demand is so slight. Much motion picture teaching is likely to go in one eye and out the other.

There is the danger that a too exclusive use of motion pictures in training the young may result in too much predigested education. Already there is a tendency in elementary education to make things easy for the pupil, which is good in so far as it develops individual initiative but always dangerous in the possibilities it gives for mental laziness and too great freedom from mental discipline.

Motion pictures can do some things better than books; but without books and without requiring original expression of ideas either orally or on paper you can't get very far with anybody's education. The motion pictures must be put to work, but they are not equal to the whole job of education, even of persons under the age of 20.

OUR READERS

Object of Memorial Day
Editor of the News.

To one interested in observance of Memorial day it often appears that various people and organizations do not realize the true meaning of memorial day. They appear to consider it a day of sports and festivities. This is just the opposite of the true meaning. It is intended as a day to pay honor and respect to the soldiers of 1861-1865 who offered their lives on their country's altar to make this a free country under one flag, "Old Glory," and is also observed by the boys of 1898 and 1918, some of whom gave their lives on the battlefields of France and are now buried in our cemeteries.

Surely if people would think seriously of Memorial day and what it stands for, they would refrain from indulging in sports of any nature on that day and pay tribute to those brave old boys who did so much for them.

Furniture is the gift that lends continual pleasure through days, weddings, engagements, anniversaries or house warm-itself and it is a true expression of the giver's thoughtfulness.

Moreover, it is a gift to the entire family. A living room table, a tea cart or sewing cabinet, an attractive lamp or a comfortable chair—these are gifts heartily welcomed, not only by newly married folk, but by all who have a love for a beautiful home.

No fishing after that date until June 16. Usual charge for fish-

Worcester, Mass. — "I had some trouble caused by a female weakness and got so run-down and weak from it that I could hardly stand or walk across the floor. DEPLORES APATHY TOWARD AVIATION Admiral Moffett Says Air Development Is Industry, Not Sport.

Washington, May 22.—Deploing America's apathy toward aviation development as "a national peril and scandal," Admiral William A. Moffett, chief of the naval air service declared today the United States must win the international seaplane races in England, Sept. 28, to arouse this country from a fatal lethargy.

Admiral Moffett said the nation must awaken to the real possibilities of navigation of the air, already recognized in other countries where vast fleets of commercial and fighting planes are building and to look upon aviation as an industry, rather than a sport.

"The seaplane races are not primarily sporting events," he declared, "but look to the development of planes and engines that will meet the most severe tests, both from the commercial and combat standpoint. They are of outstanding importance because of the stimulating effect on airship development."

The United States although entering for the first time and confronted with the best aviators of France, England, Belgium and Italy, using the finest planes those countries can produce, has a good chance to win the race, according to Admiral Moffett.

Victory means the event will be held in the United States in 1924 and possession of the famous Snyder air trophy by the American navy.

Admiral Moffett said the American entries would represent planes, the last word in aviation art, while the pilots would be selected after a careful study of the navy's 375 fliers.

U. S. WAR CLAIMS MORE THAN BILLION

Little Prospect That This Total Will Be Collected From Germany.

Washington, May 22.—While total of American war claims against Germany filed with the mixed claims commission was placed today at $1,479,064,313, there is no prospect that this amount, or anything like it, will ever be collected from Germany.

Excluding the American bill for occupying the Rhineland, amounting to some $255,000,000 which this government expects to collect from the reparations which Germany pays the allies as a group, the claims are principally for personal and business losses sustained by Americans on account of the war. Insurance companies are the heaviest claimants.

It is unofficially estimated by experts that when the claims are finally adjudicated, a quarter of a billion dollars instead of the billion claimed will be nearer the American total.

Germany has about $400,000,000 in claims against this country, principally for property taken by the United States government.

News In Brief

Alliance—Patrolman George Hopkins was suspended from the police staff here after hurling a blackjack through the windshield of C. J. Arney's automobile. Arney's companion Joe Sloan was injured by the flying glass when the car was smashed. Hopkins claims that Arney would not stop his car at his command.

New York—Painters threatening to go out on a strike have been granted a five day week at $10 per day for their services, after a three-day conference.

Youngstown—Judge Heffernan sentenced Nick Permanski to 30 days in jail and fined him $1 and costs unless he promises to wash the dishes each night after work. Mrs. Permanski works in a laundry to help Nick support their family.

Mrs. Daniel A. Wilhelm has returned to Salem after spending two years in Colorado and California.

Bruce Christie of Cleveland visited here Tuesday.

WILLS IS MATCHED TO MEET DEMPSEY

Promoter Claims Bout Will Be Held At Long Island City Labor Day.

New York, May 22.—Paddy Mullins, manager of Harry Wills, the negro heavyweight, announces that Wills and Jack Dempsey are virtually matched to meet in a heavyweight championship bout at Long Island City on Labor day.

Every detail of the bout except the actual signing of the contract has been settled, he declared, and added that the match would be held in a specially constructed arena, seating 150,000 persons.

The proposition for the bout, according to Mullins, was advanced by Dan Flaherty, manager and promoter of the Queensboro A. C., a fight club in Long Island City. Flaherty was acting for a prominent race track man and some moving picture interests, Mullins declared.

"We have been given every assurance that the fight will go on," Mullins said. "Kearns accepted the proposition during his last visit here and left for Shelby, Mont., declaring his readiness to sign as soon as the Gibbons' bout is over, provided Dempsey won. The men behind the Dempsey-Wills' proposition, Flaherty tells me, have millions at their disposal. They will start construction of the arena as soon as we sign which can't be too soon to suit Wills. He has waited long enough."

"Dempsey, I understand, is offered 37 1/2 per cent of the receipts. We will bet 12 1/2 per cent. I don't know how much will be taken in at the gate but if the capacity of 150,000 is touched, the receipt may total in the neighborhood of a million and a half."

The site of the proposed arena is about 15 minutes from the heart of New York city.

SPRING THIS YEAR
LATE IN CAPITAL

FULL TIDE OF MIGRATION OF BIRDS IS JUST ON IN DIS-TRICT OF COLUMBIA.

By EDWARD B. CLARK
Washington.—There are a few scores of officials in Washington who like to get away occasionally from an atmosphere surcharged with talk about legislation and politics to listen to the voices of nature. In this spring season the call not of the wild but of the penal is heard, and at least a part of Washington deserts its desk to go into the fields, the parks or the woods to renew acquaintance with the Mother of us all.

May may be either summer or spring in Washington, the season depending on the whim of the wind, but it is always spring to the birds who are traveling northward anxious to get home. There are parks in Washington and green fields beyond "the city wall" where nature in May and early June is at its best, and where the migrant and the resident hosts of the birds sing their mating songs, and under the protective laws of Uncle Sam show no fear of man, the trespasser.

This year the season has been late in Washington, and it is just at this writing that the full tide of the bird migration is on. The hardier feathered ones have been here in considerable number all winter, but those who are not entirely cold-weather proof have arrived recently or are still arriving.
In this season every tree and bush in the multitude of Washington's parks has its bird visitors. It is worth while to get acquainted with them for they are easy to approach, optimistic to the last feather and querulous on only rare occasions.

Mysteries of Migration.
The scientists will tell you offhand what a bird eats, where it nests and when it nests, how many eggs it lays and of what its home is built. Ask the scientist to explain the erratic movements of birds during the migration—why there are thousands here today and none tomorrow, and yet thousands the next day—and the scientist may look wise but he will close his lips on words. He does not know anything about it and neither does anybody else.

On one day in the parks of the capital or in the fields beyond it there may be 10,000 sparrows, song sparrows, fox sparrows, white throats and white-crowns. On the next day there may not be a hundred of these tune-ful birds, and yet on the next day there may be another 10,000 to appear.
Why? Don't ask, for your best answer will be a guess.

Sex beauty is reversed in the birds.
The males are by far the better looking in most instances, for nature has given most of them a varied supply of colors, while denying to the females more than an occasional dab of paint.
The temper of the sexes is reversed, or possibly it remains as it is in the human family, according to the viewpoint which you may wish to take.
The females of the bird families have July tempers all the year through.
Please remember that July is the red-hot month. The males are martyrs to a continuous course of hecking during the mating and the housekeeping.

It is not an unusual sight to see a none too attractively attired bird of what we call the gentler sex thrash two or three attending males one after another with charming feminine impartiality. They stand it like gentlemen, knowing that eventually she will accept one of them, and each is willing to take his chance and his thrashing.

Capital Attractive to Birds.
Washington in the matter of bird life is particularly fortunate. It lies on a line dividing the northland from the southland of these United States.
As a consequence, some of the birds which fly southward to find warm weather conditions in winter think that this Potomac country offers sufficient winter resort attractions to suit their comfort and convenience. So it is that Washington through the winter holds in companionship many birds which nest in the far north.

Birds which go farther south in the winter think that Washington is far enough northward to be an entirely pleasant summer resort so they stop here to nest. In addition to the migrants the capital has many birds which are not migrants but which stay here winter and summer to cheer the knowing man who seeks their goodly company in any and all seasons.
There is a law of congress which forbids the discharge of firearms in the District of Columbia at any season of the year. It may be that the large bird population of the district is due to the fact that some of the songsters and non-songsters have sensed the fact that here they are safe. Certain it is that bird life in this Potomac land is abundant.

Lived Up to the Rules.

14-Year-Old Girl Admits

Mildred Warren.

Mildred Warren, a 14-year-old girl, has been arrested in St. Paul, Minn., on charges of kidnaping a baby from in front of a department store, where it had been left by its mother.
In a basement, where she lived, the police found two other scantily clad infants. She told the police she stole the babies because she loved them and they took the place of a younger brother who died.

Canada Wars on Beavers.
Beavers have become so destructive along the St. Lawrence river that owners of islands in Canadian and United States waters have been given permission by the Dominion government to exterminate them on the Canadian side of the boundary.
An experienced trapper has been engaged for the season and will make his headquarters on Dillingham's island.
Beavers have not been seen along the St. Lawrence before in a quarter of a century. They are protected by game laws on the New York side of the river.

Washington, May 22.—Narcotic drug addiction is rapidly decreasing, under the government's blows to break up the traffic of dope smugglers and peddlers, Prohibition Commissioner Haynes announced today.
Haynes said on the basis of import records, use of narcotic drugs has decreased 500 per cent since the Harrison anti-narcotic law went into effect eight years ago.
Haynes related reports that the per capita use of drugs is 36 grains. Haynes said the records show that in the last fiscal year the quantity of opium imported and used by manufacturers was only seven-eighths of a grain per capita.

"Goodbye, Girls"
The greater part of the imagination of Vance McPhee, who was the gifted author of a quantity of "best sellers," for a time was devoted almost entirely to the development of wholly imaginary aches and pains. One side of his large library was quite filled with row upon row of books, while the other side was equally filled with rows of medicine bottles. His family physician told him what he needed was a wife.

Maybe McPhee wouldn't have taken such keen delight in the misery of his supposed ill's had he not been ably abetted by his faithful valet, a darky known as Bill. If his master said that four more aches had appeared where but one had been before, old Bill sympathized and suggested the possibility of an elusive few more.

It took a number of upsetting jolts and a series of nerve racking adventures with a beautiful young girl to take his imagination from his phantom ill's. From then on he found he had but one ache—a headache for the girl.

William Russell, as the writer, gives a tremendously interesting performance in this Fox production, "Goodbye, Girls," which will start a two-day run at the Grand theater beginning on Friday.

TEAR BOTTLE

possession of Mr. Armstrong is about four inches high. The base of the bottle is three-quarters of an inch. The glass possesses an iridescent effect. The seeming roughness of the bottle may have been caused by time and the elements, although the roughness might have been caused by the crude method of making it, when compared with the glass produced in the modern factory.

Mr. Armstrong has had this little bottle in his possession 25 years, he relates. Of all the relics in his rather large collection, the tear bottle is cherished most.
